My Home Was Destroyed

Demolition – If your property is heavily damaged and cannot be repaired or you will not be repairing the existing structure, a permit to demolish the structure is required. Be sure to contact the utilities offices to have any electric and/or gas services removed prior to the demolition.

If rebuilding on existing slab, an engineer letter stating the slab is suitable for construction is required.

Check zoning requirements with Garrett Langford at 972-412-6166*

Visit www.rowlett.com/residential for New Residential Checklist.

Hire a general contractor who is registered with the City of Rowlett.

Fill out a permit application.

*Suspension of Zoning Requirements: Residents may re-build to at least the previous standard established. For example if a home was built with only 75% masonry materials (i.e. brick), you will only be required to construct to that amount of masonry material.

My Home Sustained Severe Damage

Check zoning requirements with Garrett Langford at 972-412-6166.

Hire a general contractor registered with the City of Rowlett.

Fill out a permit application. In lieu of Building Plans, an insurance estimate detailing scope of work will be accepted.

Visit www.rowlett.com/residential for New Residential Checklist.

Structural damage (i.e. wall, room or any permanent portion) repairs require a permit with designed reconstruction plans, including electrical, plumbing and mechanical work.

My Home Sustained Minor Damage

What does not require a permit? Painting, wallpapering, replacing sheet rock, carpeting or cabinets, foundation repairs, trim work, and replacing widows. New windows must meet current Energy code.

Fence replacement requires a permit unless it is less than 25% and of the same material, same height and same location as the previous fence.

Visit www.rowlett.com/residential for specific repair project forms or permit requirements and hire a contractor registered with the City of Rowlett.

Does the City license contractors?

No. The City registers contractors so that we have the means to contact them in the event it is warranted.

Does the City perform structural engineering inspections?

No, the City does not perform such inspections. The property owner or contractor is required to hire a structural engineer.

What do the red tags that the City placed on my home mean?

These tags were placed by City staff to perform a topical assessment of homes post-tornado. They do not represent a determination as to the percentage loss of a home.

Contractor Information

Contractors must register at the City's Development Services Building, located at 3901 Main Street, and carry proof of this registration in the form of a receipt with them at all times. Exceptions are those supervised or contracted by the City for right-of-way response or vehicle extraction. A list of contractors currently registered is available at www.rowlett.com/contractorlist.

Post Disaster Contractor Practices

When recovering from a disaster reputable contractors are an important part of recovery efforts. However, citizens need to be aware of and prepared to protect themselves from attempts at fraud and deception by a relatively small number of disreputable companies. Chapter

58 of the Texas Business and Commerce Code specifies that a contractor cannot require a full or partial payment before work begins; this includes contractors who ask for cash up front. Chapter 58 also says this provision does not apply to a disaster remediation contractor that has a physical business address located in the county of the affected property or in an adjacent county for at least a year preceding the date of the contract. This is to allow residents who know a contractor to be reputable and reliable to go ahead and contract services quickly.

- Door-to-door sales are quite common in post-disaster areas. Under Texas law, the seller must advise you of your right to cancel the sale within three days. Always ask for a physical address and references. Be wary of any contractor that asks for full payment in advance or provides you a contract with blank spaces in it.
- When interviewing a contractor, ask questions, ask for identification and ensure any contractor you hire is in good standing with the Better Business Bureau.
- It is critically important that you safeguard personal info.
- Others may include fraudulent building or housing inspectors and contractors, phony pleas for disaster donations or fake offers of local, state or federal aid. As state and federal assessment teams survey the damage, they will always have identification and will never ask for or accept money.
- If you suspect fraud or have a complaint, call the Texas Attorney General Consumer Protection Hotline at 800-621-0508.

FEMA Update

The State of Texas needs YOUR help!

Last week, Governor Abbott's office received denial from the federal government for the Individual Assistance (IA) portion of his January 26 request for a major disaster declaration. The Governor has 30 days to appeal this decision. As a result, the State of Texas is collecting damage and insurance information. Although you may have already filled out the brief insurance information survey from the City of Rowlett, your additional participation in the State of Texas survey is extremely important. If you suffered property or vehicle damage or were injured as a result of that storm, please complete their survey at <https://www.research.net/r/DECTORNADO> by Sunday, February 28. We realize this may feel like a repeat of what you've already done, but it is extremely critical to this appeal and please keep in mind that it affects ALL disaster victims!

The federal government did grant the declaration for Public Assistance (PA). This is very important to our community and citizens as PA is used to help cities and counties recover a portion of the costs associated with the disaster, such as infrastructure repairs, debris removal, etc.

Please share this survey participation request with anyone you know who may have been affected by the December 26 tornado!

There are three separate types of assistance provided by the federal government in disasters:

Individual Assistance is used to help individual property and home owners who are uninsured or underinsured.

Public Assistance is used to help cities and counties recover a portion of the costs associated with the disaster, such as infrastructure repairs, debris removal, etc.

Small Business Association Disaster Assistance Loans are available to small businesses, homeowners and renters. If the Federal government declares a major disaster declaration for Individual Assistance, the SBA's disaster loan program is automatically activated. However, the SBA may make a separate "SBA only" declaration if FEMA is not involved.

Please Take the State of Texas Survey TODAY!!

Deadline is Sunday, February 28

The City of Rowlett Has Cleared Over 130,000 Cubic Yards Of Debris Since December 26, 2015.

Tornado Debris

Helpful Information for those in the Recovery Process

The City has contracted with Crowder Gulf, a vendor specializing in disaster debris removal, sorting and disposal, all to specific criteria and guidelines so that our community is well positioned to qualify for FEMA reimbursement of this cost.

On Monday, February 15, Crowder Gulf trucks began their first pass, which will take approximately 30 days. These are VERY large trucks, holding 150 cubic yards of debris each, 10-12 times the capacity of a normal City dump trucks.

After the first pass is complete, inspections of the area will take place and another round of clearing will occur to remove any debris missed or additional debris accumulated during the first round.

Please be aware that as they work, temporary road closures may occur in neighborhoods for safety reasons.

Please adhere to these debris separation and placement guidelines...

- Do not place debris in driveways or alleys.
- All debris MUST be placed off the street but in the right-of-way (area behind the curb). If the debris extends past the sidewalk into your yard (private property), it will not be removed.
- Debris should be separated as demonstrated in the graphic attached to this post.
- Place debris away from obstacles such as mail boxes, water meters and fire hydrants.
- Volunteers: please consolidate smaller piles into bigger piles, sorted as demonstrated in the illustration to the right. Those doing tear-downs, please make contiguous piles beginning at the curb line.

Material which will NOT be picked up includes:

- Concrete slab demo debris.
- Contractor debris.
- Swimming pool demo debris.
